CU Conference on World Affairs returns in person and online April 6-9.

CU Denver | Anschutz honored to receive Military Friendly Schools Gold Award designation

Charlie Sweet, Vice Chancellor of Strategic Initiatives, retires after three decades with CU

What the Wordle trend can teach us about language and technology

Venture Attractor welcomes its 2022 Cohort 1

College of Architecture and Planning exhibit honors Colorado’s first licensed Black architect

Transforming practitioners into researchers: ACCORDS’ SCORE Fellowship

Jefferson named to new DEI post at CU Denver School of Education and Human Development

Ferguson elected to AIMBE College of Fellows
Coleman relishes role as commencement marshal

Colorado is reopening again. But, this time, it feels a little more real

Study: Exposure to outdoors boosted mental health during peak of pandemic

Links
[10] https://connections.cu.edu/people/coleman-relishes-role-commencement-marshal